NUMB. 5011

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1745.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Lucca, April 30.

THE Day before Yesterday a considerable Body of Spanish Troops arriv'd on our Territory at Burgo, and this Morning the whole Spanish Army, consisting of near 30000 Horse and Foot, advanc'd into our Neighbourhood, demanding Provisions and Necessaries of all Sorts, under Promise of Pay-

The put our Republick into some Apprehensions, especially, considering the Reports heretofore as if the Count de Gages had call his Eyes this City for a Place of Arms. The necessary Precautions were however taken, as well to prevent Disturbance to provide for our own Security. It was on account, that Six Deputies were immediately sent to the Duke of Modena and the Count de Gages, to acquaint them on their Arrival, and to promise them what they demanded. At the same time, 6000 of our Troops were brought into the City, the Burghers were armed, and our Ramparts so fill'd with Artillery we are under no great Apprehensions of their doing any thing to our Prejudice. We have demanded, and received, a Commission from the Regency of Spain, to purchase 60,000 Sacks of Corn in that Country, for the Supply of this Army; and it is judg'd we have Occasion for as much more, before they leave our Neighbourhood.

May 1. The Genoese are taking all imaginable Precautions for the Security of their Coasts, from Apprehension that it will not be long before they receive a Visit from the English Fleet. We have certain Intelligence here, of their having concluded a Treaty with the Two Crowns, by which they are to furnish 1000 Men, and a large Train of battering Cannon; and as they are not obliged to act as yet, is, that they have stipulated that their Succours shall be sent to the Army of the Infant Don Philip, till such time as the Matters before their Commissaries, on the part of their Territories, 22,000 Foot, and 9000 Cavalry, and this is the true Reason why Spain has extended in so extraordinary a Manner, in order to support the Army of the Count de Gages, suffer'd in their March thro' the Mountains, the want of other Subsistence than Bread, Salt and Gunpowder, for three Days; the Count de Gages, and the Duke of Modena dining publicly on the same Provision. Prince Lobkowitz has taken all imaginable Care to train them in their Retreat, and to obstruct their March. The King of Sardinia has sent a Corps of 10000 Men into the Duchy of Placentia, and is assembling a very considerable Army in the Tortonese. The Duke of Savoy is preparing a great Embarkation at Orbassano, heavy Baggage, Ammunition, and Necessaries, together with a Reinforcement of 10000 Men; and if these should have the good Luck to be taken by the English Cruizers, it is not impossible that they might bring their Designs to bear; tho', at present, it is impossible.

May 8. Yesterday there was a great Conference at Court, in relation, as it is believ'd, to the Election of an Emperor; with regard to which the Queen has appointed the Three following Electors, viz the Count de Wurmburg, the Count de Saxe, and the Baron Hillebrand de Prandau, to be Ambassadors from the Kingdom of Bohemia. It is said here, that his Serene Highness the Grand Duke of Tuscany will shortly set out, in order to take upon him the Command of the Queen's Forces in the Empire. His Majesty has granted to Field-Marshal Count Konigsmark an Allowance of 25,000 Florins, for the Extraordinary Expenses of this Campaign; and the Dutch have agreed to his Excellency the same Allowance; and his Britannick Majesty is to allow him twice as much: so that together, he will have 100,000 Florins. M. Sully was here on the Part of his Polish Majesty, is returned to Dresden, having completed his Negotiation to the Satisfaction of both Courts.

May 15. The French are assembling on the Rhine, and in the Brigau; they have even ordered that came from Bavaria to join that Corps, tho' they have neither Equipage nor Artillery. This looks as if they intended to maintain themselves on that River; what renders this the more probable is, that Orders have been given to a considerable Corps to join them from Alsace. Our Court has received, with very great Surprise, the News, that a Battalion of our Troops that were marching Home, have been surrounded and made Prisoners of War by the Austrians. The Soldiers were entirely disarm'd; the Officers, among whom are Lieutenant-Colonel d'Esborn, and Major Horst, had their Arms and Equipage returned them, but are Prisoners nevertheless, and it is thought will accompany the rest of the Battalions into Hungary, where they have already 1600 of our Troops. We learn from Munich, that the Prince of Furstenberg is returned from Salzbourg, with the Queen of Hungary's Ratification of the late Peace; that Count Seckendorff is at the Head of Foreign Affairs; and that, in all Probability, the Bavarians will act either this Campaign, or the next, on the Side of the Queen of Hungary, in order to obtain the Advantages stipulated by the secret Articles of the Treaty of Fueslen.

Hague, May 19. Seven Regiments of our Troops are to set out immediately for the Army, in order to form a Corps of Reserve. According to our last Advices from Tournay, the Governor demanded a Capitulation on the 13th; but having propos'd as the first Article, that he should have Leave to retire, with his Garrison, into the Citadel, he was inform'd that they would grant no Capitulation, if the Citadel was not included as well as the Town; upon which, Hostilities were re-commenced with as great Vivacity as ever. The Earl of Chesterfield, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, had, Yesterday, a Conference with the Lords Deputies of the States General; at which he presented the following Memorial, by Way of taking his Leave.

High and Mighty Lords,

'The King, my Master, in granting me his Permission to return to England, gave me express Directions to renew, on his Part, to your High Mightinesses, the strongest Assurances of his Esteem and of his Friendship.

'It is extremely happy for me, that so honourable a Commission imposes on me a Task so very easy.

'As the faithful Interpreter of the Sentiments of a sincere Friendship, I am under no Necessity of borrowing any of the flattering Expressions which a pretended Friendship is forc'd to wear.

'That Power, fam'd for Intrigue, employs to cover its ambitious Designs; all the Aid that Art can offer in a Strain of seducing Practices; every Method to engross your Confidence, or, at least, to lull you into a fatal Security; but true Friendship, such as that of the King, my Master, towards your High Mightinesses, despises these Artifices, and detests such Cunning; simple in itself, its Language is simple also.

'The strict Union between these two Nations, is not at all the Effect of transitory Views of the Fruit of accidental Situations, but the mature Consequence of our reciprocal and invariable Interests. Nature seems to have pointed out this, by placing us as she has done; and the uninterrupted Experience, of almost a whole Century, will not permit us to be ignorant that our mutual Prosperity depends entirely on our Union. This is a Truth so incontestable, that it is our Duty to look upon such as our common Enemies, who pretend to call us in Question.

'In respect to most Nations, Neighbourhood proves only the fatal Source of Jealousy, or of Discord; whereas, it is our singular Felicity to be in such a manner Neighbours, as to procure to ourselves infinite Advantages, without creating Dissidence or Distrust; unless, at the same time, we forget our most important Interests.

'Such are the Ideas of the King; and from the near Inspection I have had of them, I dare venture to assert, such are the Sentiments of your High Mightinesses. Who can possibly be ignorant of this; our Allies know it, our Enemies feel it, Europe has often reap'd the happy Harvest of our Harmony; and why, therefore, should she not expect the like again?

'The Love of Liberty, which founded this Republick, which has so often signaliz'd itself since, from the Influence of the same Passion; this noble, this generous Love, unites, even at this Day, your Forces, and your Councils, to those of the King, my Master. Animated by the same Spirit, and aiming at the same End, your Efforts have no other Object than the re-establishing and securing the publick Liberty and Tranquillity. What Design more laudable, what Undertaking more worthy of a just and unanimous Zeal! Pursue, High and Mighty Lords, this Design, with your usual Firmness and Wisdom; and continue your Efforts,

'without suffering yourselves to be discouraged; and may Heaven crown you Enterprizes with the Success you desire.

'As to what regards myself, High and Mighty Lords, nothing could happen more Satisfactory than to be charged a second Time with the Orders of the King to your High Mightinesses; more especially, on the Occasion of concerting the Means of executing those Engagements; to the forming of which, I had the Honour to contribute some Years ago.

'I shall never forget the gracious Reception with which your High Mightinesses were pleas'd to honour me with, then and now; and my grateful Sense of it will terminate only with my Life; but if your High Mightinesses shall hereafter deign to think of me, be pleas'd to consider, High and Mighty Lords, that sincere Zeal which I have always had for the common Good of both Nations; my respectful Veneration for your Government; and if I may take the Liberty of using the Expression, my most tender Attachment for this Republick.

Hague, May 18, 1745.

IRELAND.

Cork, April 30. There is just now a Rumour from Cove, that the Thuroloe Privateer of Liverpool has brought in a Martinico Ship, and that five of the Best Fleet are taken by our Men of War. You are not to deem this authentick, as I am not fully satisfied; but if Circumstances are to be depended on, some Credit may be given to it, of which you shall hear more in my next. It is said, that the Commander of a Privateer is taken into Custody for carrying on a private Trade in the West Indies for his own Benefit, without ever attacking an Enemy, or taking more than one of their Ships.

Dublin, May 4. Last Wednesday died, at his House in Peter-street, greatly lamented, Philip Ridgely, Esq; Doctor of Civil Law, Vicar-General of the Diocese of Limerick and Athlone, Pursuivant at Arms to his Majesty.

Since Tuesday last above 40 Ships have arrived in this Port from England, laden with Corn and Flour; and several others have sail'd to Drogheda, Newry, Belfast, Londonderry, and other Places. Besides the above great Supply, 100 more Vessels are expected in a few Days from other Parts of England, and above 60 are bound from New England hither; so that this great Quantity, with large Stocks in the Hands of many Farmers, will, consequently, lower the Price of all Grain; and may be a Disappointment to many Engrossers, who expected very high Prices for their Corn and Meal.

Last Tuesday Mr. Sutton, Goldsmith on Cork Hill, rode into the Liffey to water his Horse, and was throwa by him; which another Man seeing, leapt into the River to save him, but were both unfortunately drown'd.

Last Wednesday there happened a great Riot in Patrick Street, when a young Man was kill'd by a Cobler's Lapstone being thrown upon his Head, out of a Window two Stories high.

The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, who was giving Directions for suppressing the Mob, was insulted by some insolent Villains throwing Stones, and oblig'd to send for a Party of the Main Guard to disperse them; upon whose approach they all fled.

Last Thursday the following Premiums promised by the Society for the Year 1744. were determin'd at the Parliament House; viz. The Premium of 10 l. for the best Hoghead of Cyder was adjudg'd to Mr. John Druce, of the County of Waterford. The Premium of 5 l. for the second best Cyder was adjudg'd to Mr. Glasney Macmahon, of Son's-ho'e, Dublin; who made 400 Hogheads of Cyder last Season in Munster. The Premium of 5 l. for the best Elderberry Wine was adjudg'd to Mrs. Towers, of Portarlinton. The Premium of 5 l. for the best Mead was adjudg'd to Mr. Merge, of Navin. The Premium of 5 l. for the best Gooseberry Wine was adjudg'd to Mrs. Swiny, of Jervis-street. The Premium of 5 l. for the best Currant Wine was adjudg'd to Mrs. Broby, near Leixlip. The Premium of 5 l. for the best Goosebury Vinegar was adjudg'd to Mrs. Craddock, of Arklow.

SCOTLAND.

Edinburgh, May 6. On the 23d ult. died, at his Seat in Angus, Alexander Arbuthnot, of Flodowrie, Esq; after a long Illness; a Gentleman of orthodox Principles, and a Patriot in the genuine Acceptation.

Last Saturday 100 Anchors of Foreign Spirits were seized in the Frith by Capt. Reid, of one of his Majesty's Yachts, and brought into Leith Road.

We have the bad News, that last Week a Privateer took the Don Carlos of Brantford, John Ballantine & the of Inverkeithing, Capt. Greig, both off of Stonehive, and they are both ransomed; and that the same Privateer took also the Ship of Capt. Fortune of Anstruther, which has also been ransomed. The Privateer came so nigh the Coast, that when she fired some Shot, the same broke down a House on Land.

FOREIGN PORT.

Elfenor, May 15. N. S. The Ships under the Command of the following Persons, are arrived: viz. David Springer, David Hafel, from Steten for London; Matthew Evert, Andrew Forcks, from Stockholm for London; John Horslop, from Carelsrone; Christopher Blackfort, from Dantzick for London; John Moortoot, William Otter, and William Walker, from Riga for Hull. Dover, May 12. Last Night was sent in here by the Sutherland Privateer, Capt. Sutherland, the Louisa Sloop, Peter Straunbury Master, belonging to Woodvall near Gottenburg, bound to Havre with Pitch. Capt. Sutherland has also taken off Cape Antifer a French Vessel, not yet arrived. The Sutherland came into this Pier this Morning, very much shattered by an Engagement Yesterday with two French Privateers; one his old Chap, the Boulogne Dogger, of 14 Carriage, and 20 Swivel Guns, and 120 Men; and a Row-Boat of 4 Six-pounders, 10 Swivels, and 40 Men, belonging to the same Place. We saw the Engagement from the Hills, which was very hot, and thought poor Sutherland was going to Boulogne, but thank God it has proved contrary. Capt. Sutherland's Behaviour in this Affair has got him the universal Praise of every Person in Dover.
